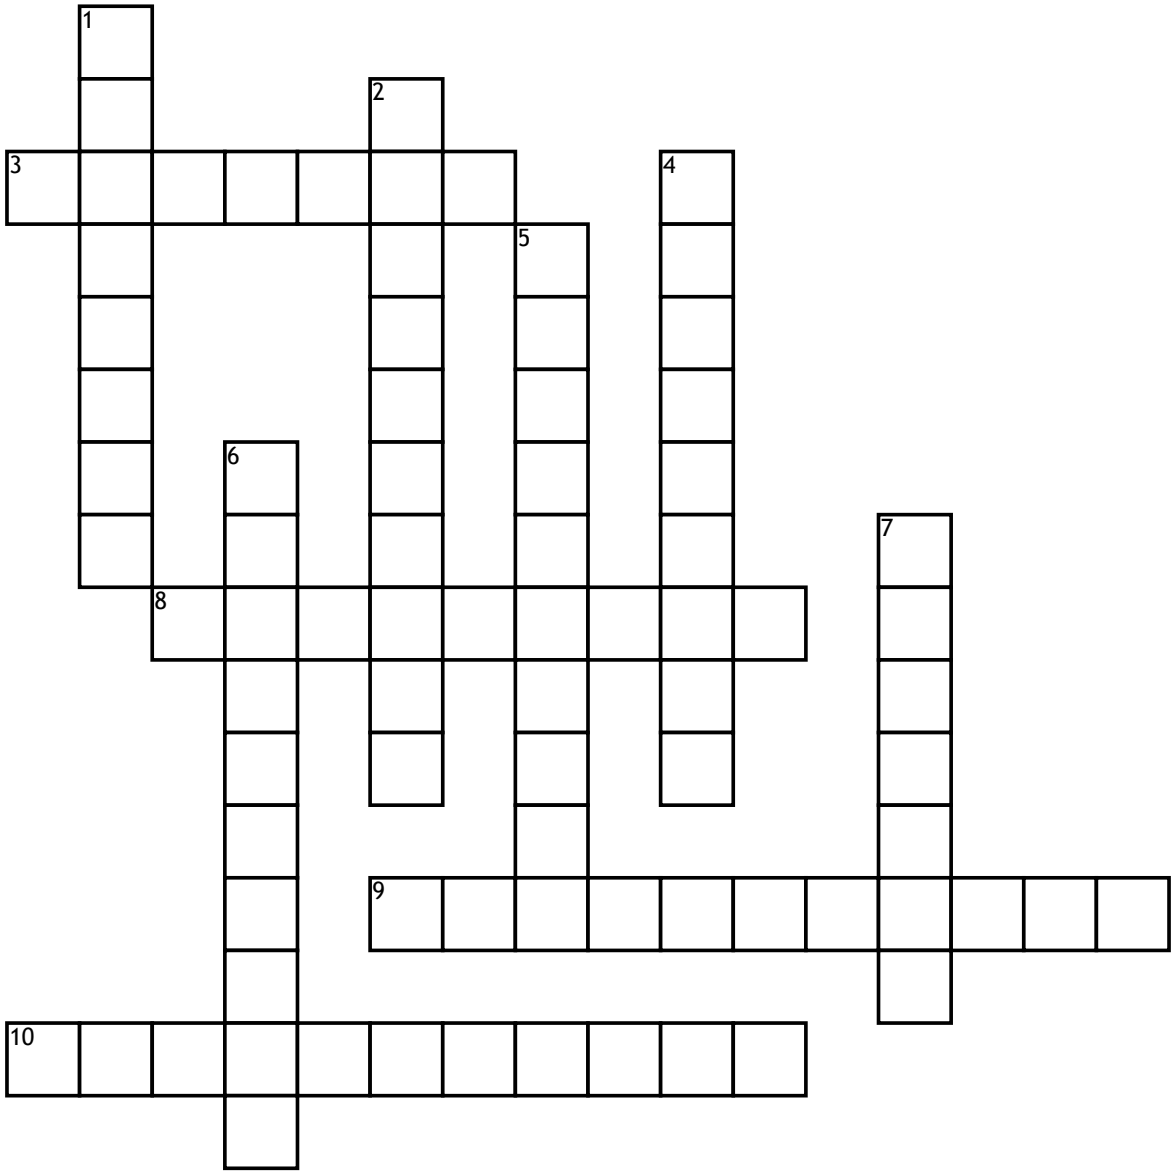
Hunger Games



Across

3. strong and sharp to the sense of taste or smell It was a Sunday in October, the air cool and pungent with dying things.

8. artificially formal By comparison, the chariot costume seems garish, the interview dress too contrived.

9. feeling downcast and disheartened and hopeless Maybe Haymitch's noticed my despondency and is trying to cheer me up a bit.

10. characteristic of those who treat others with arrogance It's like a slap in the face. His use of Haymitch's patronizing endearment.

Down

1. strike with a club They don't always have bows," I say, thinking of the year there were only horrible spiked maces that the tributes had to bludgeon one another to death with.

2. not returned in kind Unrequited love they can relate to.

4. not sensible, responsible, or wise Maybe it's imprudent to check them with the others so close.

5. deviating from a straight course I've just decided to try and loop back around, although it will require miles of travel away from the inferno and then a very circuitous route back, when the first fireball blasts into the rock about two feet from my head.

6. a health professional trained in the art of preparing drugs They ran an apothecary shop in the nicer part of District 12.

7. having spots or patches of color In the dappled light, I pull the little orange backpack from my arm, cut open the clasp, and dump the contents on the ground.
