

10th Grade Terms

Across

2. giving human attributes to inanimate objects
8. a type of sentence with two independent clauses
9. a statement that a claim or criticism is not true
10. A comparison of two things using "to be" verbs (is, was)
13. a type of clause that cannot stand alone in a sentence

14. a comparison using "like" or "as"

16. the repetition of the first letter of multiple words
17. evidence that appeals to the audience's emotions

Down

1. the feeling a reader gets while reading
3. an exaggeration
4. a claim set up in opposition to another.

5. an explanation of evidence in an essay

6. a type of clause that can stand alone in a sentence

7. the author's attitude in writing

11. evidence that uses credibility or morals to persuade a reader

12. a type of sentence that has one dependent and one independent clause

15. evidence that uses facts, data, or statistics