

2.05 Respiratory Medical Terminology

Across

2. a disease of the lungs due to inhalation of dust, characterized by inflammation, coughing, and fibrosis.

4. a member of the phylum Spirochaetes, which contains distinctive diderm bacteria, most of which have long, helically coiled cells.

12. gum disease

13. an uncommon condition of positional dyspnea and hypoxemia

14. difficult or labored breathing

Down

1. relating to the lungs

3. analyzing plasma or serum sample.

5. sudden contraction in the muscle walls of the bronchioles

6. a procedure in which a needle is inserted into the pleural space between the lungs and the chest wall

7. bleeding from the nose

8. the windpipe

9. surgical incision into the larynx, typically to provide an air passage when breathing is obstructed.

10. a passage of airway in the respiratory tract that conducts air into the lungs

11. hoarse or raspy voice