

302 fun

Across

3. what is the most proximal portion of the small intestine called?
4. what is the proximal, pouch like portion of the large intestine called?
7. how many tarsal bones are in the foot?
11. what is the radiographic examination of the gall bladder called?
13. Which of the following tarsal bones articulates with the talus anteriorly?

15. what view of the patella will be obtained with the patient prone and the affected knee flexed 90 degrees?

16. what is the name of the largest bone in the lower extremity ?

Down

1. When the patient is in a Cleaves position (frog) , how are the patient's thighs positioned?

2. what is the name of main bile duct that leads directly from the liver?

5. the medial malleolus, lateral malleolus and talus form which joint?

6. what the names of the bones that form the instep of the foot?

8. what is the voice of organ called?

9. which structures serves as a oommon passageway for both food and air?

10. The "frog " lateral is a common name given to a position for which of the following anatomical areas?

12. for a medial oblique projection of the foot, the foot should be rotated ?

14. what is the name of the tube that passes from the kidney to the urinary bladder?