

Name: _____

Date: _____

A01 Eysenck's theory

Across

4. people with high E and N scores are hard to...

9. extraverts are more likely to take part in dangerous and " " activities e.g stealing

10. criminal behaviour is developmentally immature meaning people wish to receive...

11. how can the criminal personality be measured?

12. According to Eysenck if someone scores highly on extraversion and neuroticism they will also score highly on...

13. people who score highly on the E dimension are known as...

Down

1. A person who scores highly on E,N and P are known as having the...

2. An underactive nervous system is associated with which dimension?

3. our personality traits have a biological origin. this can support the theory being...

5. what does the N dimension stand for?

6. Eysenck takes psychoticism into account. This can support the theory being...

7. people who score low on the E dimension are known as...

8. Neurotics are more likely to commit crimes as they are " " and emotionally unstable so may react more violently to a situation than a stable person