

ACT Vocabulary Practice

Across

1. to clear from blame
4. unavoidable or when used as a noun, situation that is unavoidable
12. to observe carefully
14. no longer useful, superfluous, extra or able to be left out without sacrificing meaning or usefulness
16. to show or prove to be right or to be a good reason for doing something
18. to intentionally leave something or someone out or to leave something undone
19. diplomatic or polite
20. the ability to understand something before using conscious reasoning or something that one knows before thinking about it; a "gut feeling"

Down

2. appropriate to the matter at hand
3. to write or create or to constitute or make up (e.g. water is composed of hydrogen and oxygen)
5. a special quality of a person, thing, or group
6. to recognize what makes someone or something different or to make someone or something appear different or to become different in the process of development
7. to delay unnecessarily
8. to come before in time, order, or position or to go in front of or ahead of
9. about to happen
10. to work together

11. expressing criticism or disapproval or relating to the careful judgements of critics (usually about books, art, movies, etc.) or using careful judgement about the good and bad parts of something
13. to regard as probable or to expect or predict
15. to make an official decision, based on evidence or facts or to be the cause or reason for something to learn something by getting information
17. elusive, sly, ambiguous