

AP PSYCH UNIT 4 VOCAB

Across

2. Pavlov's dogs: salivating when presented with food
 3. learning by watching other
 4. Bandura's bobo doll experiment demonstrated this principle of observational learning
 8. after not practicing rolling over for years, Spot did nothing when given the command
 17. participating in class because you want to learn the content for yourself and get better at it rather than to get a good grade
 18. Father of classical conditioning
 19. Pavlov's dogs are the most popular example of this type of conditioning
 20. a child was able to figure out a solution to an ethical problem that many adults could not (type of learning)

21. cognitive map is an example of this type of learning
 22. a person acting to benefit others over themselves is an example of this type of effect
 23. When Sally blurted out instead of raising her hand, she had to sit in time out for 5 minutes
 24. When Sally raised her hand in class instead of blurting out, she got a sticker from her teacher
 25. the stage in which a dog may first rollover after you give the command
Down
 1. Pavlov's dogs: food
 5. a child is aggressive because his parents were constantly fighting is an example of this type of effect
 6. Pavlov's dogs: salivating in response to the bell

7. buying a coffee from Dunkin donuts when it is 2x the perks member points
 9. The dog knew the difference between a doorbell in real life and a doorbell on the TV because of this
 10. learning from other experiences
 11. Pavlov's dogs: bell
 12. obtaining new information
 13. after trying hard and studying over and over for the test and failing yet again, Samantha decided she would no longer try and just fail
 14. A dog trainer clicks their clicker every time her dog gets closer and closer to shaking her hand
 15. Little Albert was scared when any soft or white thing was presented because of this
 16. This type of conditioning was first described and demonstrated by BF Skinner