

Abdominal and Testicular examination

Across

3. Abnormal abdominal pulsations can indicate this

9. Type of hernia most prevalent in babies / multiparous women

10. One of the nine regions of the abdomen where the bladder is situated (not hypogastric)

12. The organ most likely affected if spider angiomas are noted

16. _____ hypertension might indicate right cardiac failure

18. This structure should be palpated during a testicular examination

20. Abdominal organ the size of your fist

21. Transverse stretching of the umbilicus in ascitis is referred to as a _____ umbilicus

22. A positive fluid thrill test indicates _____

23. Area where pain from appendicitis is most often experienced: right _____

24. A movable mass might indicate _____

25. Sign of appendicitis when flexed right leg is rotated inwards

Down

1. Sign of cholecystitis: _____'s sign

2. Regions where kidneys could be palpated: Right and left _____

4. Examination technique to follow inspection in the abdominal examination

5. The most inferior arteries auscultated during abdominal examinations

6. During percussion, _____ might indicate a spastic colon

7. Cessation of abdominal respiratory movements might be caused by this.

8. Pain landmark of appendicitis

11. Normal sound elicited by percussion of the abdomen

13. Referred appendix pain in the lower left abdominal quadrant: _____'s sign

14. Sign of appendicitis when right leg is slowly extended

15. Due to the sensitive nature of this organ it should not be palpated repeatedly

17. Twisting of the spermatic cord leading to severe pain: Testicular _____

19. Organ adjacent to liver