

Anaesthetic Circuits

Across

- 6. What must the 'in use' label be attached to?
- 7. What is used to connect the tubing at the patient end?
- 8. What circuit would be used for horses weighing over 100kg?
- 10. What is placed in the patient end of the tubing once the circuit has been set up?

11. What is used to keep the patients' mouth open when intubating?

12. What should be left closed once the circuit is fully assembled?

Down

- 1. What is used to ease insertion of the ET tube?
- 2. What circuit would you use for a foal or horse weighing less than 100kg?

3. The dial on the _____ should be checked to make sure it turns easily

- 4. What is used to deliver pure oxygen to the patient?
- 5. What volatile agent is used to maintain equine anaesthesia?
- 9. What is used to check the circuit for leaks?