

Name: _____

Biological Basis of Behavioral Disorders

Across

2. Symptoms of Schizophrenia such as memory problems, poor attention and reduced decision-making.
3. Anxiety reducing drugs used to treat anxiety
4. Classified as mild depression
6. Name given for intense irrational fears centered on an object, activity, or situation that a person avoids.
12. A disorder that is marked by recurring, repetitive acts that are carried out without rhyme, reason, or the ability to stop.
13. Another possible treatment for depression that includes therapy
17. Percentage of Population Schizophrenia affects
19. A treatment for Depression that includes mild shocks
20. Classified as increased energy within an individual
21. the name of a syndrome where patients have heightened sensitivity to tactile, auditory, and visual stimuli.

22. A mind state that has symptoms like increased energy, less sleep required, impulsive activity (gambling, etc.), and feelings of empowerment.
23. Where something is added to patient such as hallucinations and delusions.
24. Distortion in voluntary movement; a long-term side effect of antipsychotic drugs
25. Studies patterns of disease in a population.
27. A hypothesis that states that Schizophrenia is caused by excess synaptic dopamine or dopamine receptors
28. A type of Anxiety Disorder

Down

1. A psychiatric disorder characterized by periods of depression alternating with expansive mood, or mania.
5. Where something is lost within the patient such as slow thought and speech and emotional and social withdrawal.
7. Impaired logical thought, a key symptom in Schizophrenia

8. This was used to treat Schizophrenia in the 1950's; it's an anesthetic.
9. Things in life such as stress, city life, prenatal exposure to influenza, low birth weight are all examples of this.
10. A now very rare form of surgery, involves much smaller lesions than lobotomies, and is a last resort for disorders such as epilepsy.
11. Which set of twins have a higher chance of getting Schizophrenia if the other twin already has the disease?
14. Amount of people in the US Population that report symptoms of psychiatric disorders at some point in their lives.
15. A group of behavioral or physical characteristics that accompany an inherited susceptibility to a particular disorder.
16. The most prevalent mood disorder
18. The name of a mood-stabilizing drug used to treat bipolar disorder.
26. Unpleasant memories that repeatedly plague the victim.