

Birds of Tracy Aviary

Across

3. Eastern and Western
4. Native to South America; nests on mud mounds
8. Largest bird at Tracy Aviary
10. Our Conservation Department studies broad-tailed _____ in the foothills of Salt Lake City
12. One of many species at Tracy Aviary that are pink
16. Duck you'll most frequently see
19. The oldest bird at Tracy Aviary; shares a home island with the extinct dodo
20. Probably the most playful species at Tracy Aviary
24. A local relative of this species is the belted kingfisher
25. One of our three conservation projects supported by admission fees; this species is one of the best examples of lekking
27. Actually a quite colorful bird with orange-yellow on its face, turquoise eyes, and bright blue mouth lining

28. As part of their mating ritual, these birds paint themselves with clay
29. This birds' beak turns upward, an adaptation to help it survive in wetlands
30. Bird show star species most closely related to the T. rex
31. Andy, the Andean condor, is an ambassador for this other condor species found in southern Utah
32. Cavity nesters native to Africa; Tracy Aviary is home to both species
33. One of two birds in Tracy Aviary's collection that is extinct in the wild

Down

1. Not dead, just sunbathing
2. Common wild game birds found at Tracy Aviary; have a comma-shaped topknot of feathers projecting from their forehead
5. King, turkey, and black
6. Nests underground in tunnels 5-14 feet long
7. The smallest species of owl in our collection; also found on Antelope Island

9. The fastest bird
11. One of our three conservation projects supported by admission fees; this one local to Costa Rica, Ecuador, and Colombia
13. Mountain and black-capped
14. Wild bird of prey species often seen flying around Tracy Aviary and Liberty Park
15. Native wild bird often observed at Tracy Aviary; not singers, but drummers
17. Hatched at Tracy Aviary, colloquially known as "The Pink Ladies"
18. Lay some of the most beautiful eggs - from near black to purple to light green and even red
21. Tracy Aviary's first curator helped conserve this species of swan, which is now incorporated into our logo
22. The habitat of the Andean _____ includes wetlands in Peru
23. This scientist and author identified wide-spread application of DDT as the reason bald eagle populations were decreasing
26. Most expensive spice + songbird