

CAP Readiness: Lab Week

Across

- 3. PT interlaboratory communication and referral are violations of
- 5. Unless explicitly directed otherwise by the PT provider in written instructions, PT samples must be treated and reported like a
- 6. Prohibits the referral of any PT material to another laboratory for testing.
- 8. The primary providers of proficiency test surveys for all MACL laboratories are
- 10. If you work at another lab be mindful that you cannot perform proficiency testing on the same PT sample(s) at both laboratories - this is considered a type of
- 11. Sharing information or questions outside the four walls of the laboratory regarding PT prior to the due date for submission of results via

Down

- 1. Sharing information or questions outside the four walls of the laboratory regarding PT prior to the due date for submission of results via
- 2. a process intended to demonstrate a lab's ability to provide accurate and reliable results
- 4. Do Not refer any part of a _____ test sample, or data for review, to another laboratory, even if you would normally refer a patient sample or data.
- 7. _____ constitutes PT interlaboratory communication
- 9. Intra-laboratory or interlaboratory communication regarding PT materials or results is _____ until the PT provider has formally published the results.