

CS Fundamentals Vocabulary Word Search

Across

2. Feeling annoyed or angry because something is not the way you want it.

5. To do something again.

8. A loop that continues to repeat while a condition is true.

9. Causes the computer to execute the commands you've written in your program.

11. The piece of code that you add to a program to indicate that the program should run the code inside a function at a certain time.

12. Statements that only run under certain conditions.

14. The action of doing something over and over again.

15. An error in a program that prevents the program from running as expected.

16. Using the power of computers to solve problems.

17. Able to be relied on as honest or truthful.

18. Trying again and again, even when something is very hard.

Down

1. The common programming structure that implements "conditional statements".

3. Doing something on the internet, usually again and again, to make another person feel angry, sad, or scared.

4. The art of creating a program.

6. Finding and fixing problems in an algorithm or program.

7. An algorithm that has been coded into something that can be run by a machine.

10. A placeholder for a piece of information that can change.

13. A list of steps to finish a task.