

Chapter 10 Personality

Across

2. The belief that there is no point in trying to alter conditions because there is nothing that can be done.
4. Personality tests designed to assess thoughts, feelings, and behavior by asking direct questions.
6. Complete acceptance toward another person
16. The most extensively researched and widely used personality inventory.
19. Those who believe that outcomes are outside their own control have _____.
20. Preoccupied with the inner world, cautious around other people
21. The belief that emphasizes group needs and desires over those of the individual.
24. Taking credit for success while denying blame for failure.
25. The most common KIND of objective personality.

Down

1. A psychological period of relative calm.
3. The view that personality emerges through the process of the person interacting with the social environment.
5. He believed in the Person-Centered Theory
7. Those who believe that outcomes occur because of their own efforts have _____.
8. Philosophy that considers people as unique, independent entities, separate from their social surroundings.
9. Focused on the external world, confident and socially outgoing.
10. Repression, Rationalization, Reaction Formation, Displacement, Projection and Regression
11. A person's belief about his or her ability to perform behaviors that should bring about a desired outcome.

12. The first influential female psychoanalyst.

13. Important quality of personality; why everyone does not act the same in similar situations.

14. Consistent and distinctive in thinking, feeling, and acting

15. Fulfilling one's potential according to Maslow.

17. The most widely used personality measure in the world.

18. Unconscious motives and desires are revealed the way people to respond to ambiguous stimuli or situations using _____.

22. He wrote about birth order and coined the term "sibling rivalry".

23. Freud's friend with the analytical psychology approach later the central focus of the humanistic perspective