

Chapter 4 Birds and Mammals

Across

2. egg-laying mammals
 7. an upward force that cause the bird to rise.
 10. large feathers that gave shape to a birds body.
 11. on organ in pregnant female mammals that passes materials between the mother and the developing embryo.
 12. a endothermic vertebrate that has feathers, four-chambered heart and lays eggs.

13. are endothermic vertebrate that have a four chambered heart and skin covered with fur and hair.

Down

1. short, fluffy feathers that trap heat and keep birds warm.
 3. develops inside its mother's body until its body systems can function independently.
 4. organ in mother's body the produces milk to fed young mammals

5. a large muscle located at the bottom of the ribs cage that functions in breathing
 6. a thick walled, muscular part of the stomach

8. an internal storage tank for storing food inside the body after swallowing it.
 9. mammals whose young are born at an early stage of development, they continue to develop in their mother's pouch