

Chapter 5: How Sociologists Do Research

Across

9. Questions that do not have "yes" or "no" answers.

10. If other researchers use your operational definitions and come up with the same conclusion, your data is _____.

11. The best way to get a representative sample is by using a _____.

Down

1. Researchers following a single event to better understand the situation.

2. If another sociologist were to review your data, it would be called _____.

3. Asking individuals multiple questions for researching purposes.

4. Face to face interviews can often cause _____.

5. Sociological research can sometimes be _____ due to the nature of certain situations.

6. A series of questions asked to people.

7. With sensitive topics, interviewers may have to establish a _____ with respondents.

8. The group that is the center of a sociological study.
