

Name: _____

Date: _____

Childhood Theorists

Across

- 6. This method was developed in New Zealand
- 8. A lady who was a sociologist who observed that children played together differently.
- 9. The daughter of a man who pioneered psychoanalysis.
- 10. A man who suggests there are 16 different play types.
- 11. He encouraged children to play with natural materials

Down

- 1. Who thought play creates a zone of potential development.

- 2. She did not believe pretend play was important, and thought children wanted to do real things.
- 3. This man pioneered the view that play acts as a way of bringing together and organising learning.
- 4. Who identified the twelve features of play.
- 5. He believed that play was for pleasure and it allowed children to practise what they had previously learnt, it did not always lead to learning a new thing.
- 7. He believed children should have a long childhood as there is so much to learn.