

Clostridium Difficile Management Crossword

Across

- 1. Clostridium _____ is a pathogen known to cause diarrhea and colitis.
- 4. _____ your hands are a very important step in C-diff prevention.
- 5. Place the “wash your _____” sign in the room to remind others about hand washing.
- 8. _____ patient and family about disease process and prevention.
- 10. For patients with loose, watery stools that occur more frequently than usual _____ precautions will be implemented.
- 12. Restrict the _____ to the room except for tests/ procedures.

- 13. Use soap and _____ to perform hand hygiene.
 - 17. Take only _____ amounts of supplies into the patient's room.
 - 19. Instruct _____ not to eat in the patient's room.
 - 20. Wear gowns and _____ before entering the patient's room.
- Down
- 2. Staff should disinfect _____ touched by patients.
 - 3. Discontinue _____ when the patient is no longer infectious.
 - 6. Minimize shared _____, sanitize between patients using bleach whenever feasible.

- 7. Most cases of C-diff occur in patients who are taking _____.
- 9. _____ high touched areas inside the patient's room.
- 11. Check with _____ nurse or manager before sending a C-diff sample.
- 14. It is important that all equipment removed from the isolation room is appropriately _____ and disinfected.
- 15. Always assign the patient with C-diff to _____ room.
- 16. UV _____ will be used after manual cleaning.
- 18. If a patient has acute diarrhea, nausea and/or vomiting of unknown cause, initiate _____ protocol.