

Conversations

Across

4. Divergent views are present in _____, and people open up to viewpoints that challenge the status quo
8. The sixth element of J-curve model
9. Leaders launch conversations into possibilities through their language, and by being a _____ of labels and truths.
10. Leaders conversation has to focus on the _____

Down

1. Type of conversation where we describe what happened and that is the default mode of conversation

2. At this level of listening, we are beyond ourselves, beyond analysis, and beyond other people; we listen from a perspective of what is emerging in the situation, or what can emerge.
3. The leadership model that has nine elements and that we are learning now
5. The ability to do something that frightens one.
6. Acknowledging, talking, connecting dots, and recognizing patterns are all about managing to _____
7. To believe something good about someone rather than something bad; to avoid misunderstanding, leaders need to be familiar with benefits of the _____