

Discrete Math C

Across

3. Any process of comparing entities in pairs or judge which of each entity is preferred
 4. Number of rows multiplied by the number of columns
 8. A fixed share of something
 9. A power index
 10. Defined by the probability of changing an outcome of a vote where voting isn't equally divided
 12. Someone who has importance within the voting
 14. Someone in an election who has no intention of winning

15. A system of voting where you choose something based on your own personal liking

17. An operation in which you multiply two matrices

19. Array of numbers going up

Down

1. When 2 or more voting parties work together

2. Preference ballot in which no 2 candidates are in the same rank

5. The candidate with the most votes wins

6. To reject

7. Each voter has a different voting power determined by the total number of voters who voted for them in the election

11. Occurs in elections where there are more than 2 candidates

13. A table which displays all results of all the votes

16. A rectangular array of numbers

18. Array of numbers going down