

ENC 1101 Crossword

Across

5. a fallacy that attacks the person, not the argument
 6. an error in reasoning
 12. in a simple sense, the ability to read and/or write
 13. the study and use of persuasive communication
 15. a fallacy that presumes something to be fact when it hasn't been proven
 16. appeal to authority or credibility in an argument
 18. a statement about a case within the class of all people

19. a fallacy that ignores the argument and substitutes an exaggerated position
 20. a fallacy that presents two options; one correct and one incorrect
 21. arguments in which statements are combined to draw a conclusion

Down

1. arguments that are based on probability
 2. a fallacy in which two events that are correlated implies that one caused the other
 3. appeal to logic in an argument (facts, evidence, etc.)

4. a group of people involved in a certain topic or field
 7. a statement accepted by everyone that makes an observation about all people
 8. a fallacy that assumes an eventual and inevitable conclusion
 9. a group within a discourse community that shares similar interests
 10. an approach to literacy pedagogy
 11. presentation of a viewpoint with reasons for support
 14. the perfect moment for a piece of writing
 17. appeal to emotion in an argument