

Name: _____

Date: _____

Epidemiology

Across

1. Likelihood that someone will become infected or develop a condition
4. Branch of medical science concerned with the incidence, distribution, and control of diseases that affect large numbers of people
8. A group of individuals that belong to the same species and live in the same area
9. Number of cases of disease in a specific population
10. Act of keeping track of a number of public health concerns

Down

2. All the different populations that live together in an area
3. death rate
5. The number or proportion of cases of a particular disease or condition present in a population at a given time
6. Regular review of disease data to determine changes in disease levels
7. The number or rate of new cases of a particular condition during a specific time