

Extinction Crossword Puzzle

Across

7. Proves durable over time, if it appears in a wide variety of possible environments, or if it spreads to a wide variety of related behaviours.
8. A positively reinforcing consequence is delivered by another person after the target behaviour, and as a result, the behaviour is more likely to occur.
9. Another person terminates an aversive interaction, task, or activity after the occurrence of a target behaviour, and as a result, the behaviour is more likely to occur.
10. Determines whether extinction results in a rapid decrease or a more gradual decrease.

Down

1. The target behaviour automatically reduces or eliminates an aversive stimulus as a consequence of the behaviour and the behaviour is strengthened.

2. A behaviour produces a positively reinforcing consequence automatically, and the behaviour is strengthened, the behaviour is said to be maintained.
3. A behaviour may occur again even after it has not occurred for some time.
4. A behaviour that is no longer reinforced, increases briefly in frequency, duration or intensity before it decreases and ultimately stops.
5. A behaviour that has been previously reinforced no longer results in the reinforcing consequences, and therefore, the behaviour stops occurring in the future.
6. Ability to perform a response over time, even after systematic applied behaviour procedures have been withdrawn.
