

Families In Canada.

Across

4. A supposition or a system of ideas intended to explain something, especially one based on general principles independent of the thing to be explained.

8. Something that is usual, typical, or standard.

10. A group consisting of parents and children living together in a household.

11. A serious disagreement or argument, typically a protracted one.

12. The study of behavior based on mental processes.

14. The study of human societies and cultures and their development.

15. The practice of training people to obey rules or a code of behavior, using punishment to correct disobedience.

Down

1. A statement or theory that is put forward as a premise to be maintained or proved

2. The sociological theory that looks at how a society is organized to perform its required functions effectively.

3. Relating to the structure of populations.

5. Family studies is an area of psychological study and research that examines how individuals change and grow and how those changes interact within the family matrix.

6. The advocacy of women's rights on the basis of the equality of the sexes.

7. The social science that explains the behavior of individuals as they interact in social groups.

9. The function assumed or part played by a person or thing in a particular situation

13. The relative social, professional, or other standing of someone or something.