

Figurative Language

Across

2. the repetition of a sound at the beginning of words used close together

5. a phrase that has both a literal and figurative meaning that is used in one particular culture or community

7. a comparison used in reference to something well known in order to make one's point known and understood

8. used in a way that is meant to be understood in its exact meaning as it is presented

10. giving human qualities and traits to non-human things or beings

11. a comparison that is made to convey meaning without using "like or as"

12. I've looked over the entire world and still have not found the place I belong.

Down

1. words that go against themselves

3. words used to imitate sounds

4. used in a way that is not meant to be understood for its direct value or exact meaning

6. The baby held tight to her doll like they were old friends ready to take on anything together.

9. a situation that goes against itself