

Fluoroscopy

Across

1. What exam uses intravenous contrast to better to better visualize the urinary system

4. Before using iodinated contrast, always verify that a patient isn't allergic to _____

7. Between which vertebrae is a needle inserted for a lumbar puncture

10. How many semesters are left for the class of 2020

12. As Low As Reasonably Achievable

15. Where is a needle inserted for a myelogram

16. Where is the tube located in relation to the table

18. Where is the image intensifier in relation to the patient

19. Examination of the synovial joints where fluoro is used to place contrast in the joint space

20. Examination that demonstrates the functionality of the pharynx and esophagus (2 words)

Down

2. Examination of the distal esophagus, stomach, and duodenum (abbr.)

3. A barium swallow, also known as

5. A dynamic x-ray in "real time"

6. Best patient position to demonstrate a hiatal hernia

8. Type of positive contrast

9. Best place to stand during a fluoroscopic exam, in relation to the Radiologist

11. Examination of the large intestine (2 words)

13. Element used in shields

14. Examination that demonstrates the function of the uterus and fallopian tubes (abbr.)

17. Type of negative contrast