

Name: _____

Forensics

Across

- 1. The special container/ trap a forensic scientist uses to capture trace evidence
- 5. Chemical (juice) that can be used to create a secret message
- 8. How many basic types of fingerprints are there
- 9. How can the type of tyres on cars be used once they have left a scene
- 11. Reason handwriting needs to be analysed at times to solve a crime, like fraud, is to determine _____

- 12. Which type of fingerprint is the most common
- 15. What is the use of elimination fingerprints
- 16. Evidence left at the crime scene at Hilltop Farm after breaking in

Down

- 2. Why is the DNA molecule so useful at a crime scene
- 3. Type of fingerprint that is a mixture of other patterns
- 4. Method used to show up a secret message

- 6. What do scientists look at when they analyse paint from cars
- 7. In which month do you develop your own set of fingerprints during pregnancy?
- 10. Substance found on skin that contributes to fingerprints
- 13. Type of microscope used to sort through debris from a crime scene
- 14. Name of the molecule that stores the genetic code in each person

Word Bank

stereo	impressions	forgery	control	vacuum	DNA
three	fifth	lemon	loops	composite	chips unique	oil	heat	blood		