

Free Speech Around the World

Across

2. The rise to power of what person may explain why countries like Germany are so weary of hateful speech?

4. In order to publish something in China, one must first have it vetted by a _____ government official.

8. The Chinese Students and Scholars Association monitors Chinese students at American campuses and make sure they don't participate in "_____ people and activities".

13. The Public Order Act of 1986 state than an individual in Britain can serve up to _____ years for expressing radical hatred.

14. Other than Germany, where can one be a "convicted holocaust denier"?

16. In what article of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights is the freedom of expression and opinion addressed?

17. What generation is the most supportive of the US government limiting offensive speech against minorities?

18. What county banned sarcasm?

19. The popular Arabic joke goes "only at the _____ is it safe to open your mouth".

20. What legal term that exists in almost every other country does not exist in the United States?

Down

1. What percentage of the world has laws against defamation?

3. The only real limitations that Americans have on their free speech are laws against inciting violence and _____.

5. Saudi Arabia uses _____ - _____ and press laws to punish those who speak out against Sharia law.

6. 193 of 195 sovereign nations in the world are members of what organization?

7. Why, in Egypt, 2015 was Karim Ashraf Mohamed al-Banna sentenced to three years in prison for profession his atheism online? He was _____.

9. Earlier this year, how much (in US dollars) was Facebook fined for failing to take down "hateful posts" fast enough?

10. What was the fine (in US dollars) that two tourists, earlier this year, had to pay for making a Nazi salute in Germany?

11. The Universal Declaration of _____ set standards, world-wide, to what man is entitled to.

12. What country is known best for having the least restrictions on free speech?

15. Turkey banned what website so as to stop ideas from reaching its people which may inspire them voice discontent with their government?