

Hairstyling / Hair Design

Across

- 9. The brush that allows the greatest airflow to the hair so lengths can be dried quickly while directing them into the lines of the design is called a:
- 10. The open end of an oblong is referred to as the _____ end
- 11. To maintain a constant temperature during use, the electric curling iron contains a heating element controlled by a _____
- 12. The tool used to relax a set, backbrush or smooth the surface of the hair is a:
- 14. A _____ is a thermal styling tool used to air form wet hair while using brushes, combs and fingers to create a temporary change

15. Which type of set allows you to position rollers diagonally and set from multiple points of origin

16. The roller shape that shows a progression of curl diameters, and is used in curvature shapes

Down

- 1. The finishing procedure that reinforces the established lines of the design is known as
- 2. What type of pincurl is used to create fullness and height
- 3. Which base control positions the tool completely off the bottom parting
- 4. What tool position is NOT used in curvature volume

5. Tighter curl patterns added to increased layered forms create the illusion of _____

6. Which hair design technique requires holding a small section of hair taut with one hand, while the other hand slides the brush from ends to the base

7. Who was the first person to introduce thermal irons

8. What is recommended to remove buildup from a cool iron barrel

13. Another name for hair pressing is _____