

Name: _____

Date: _____

Hand Hygiene

1. What is the most effective method for preventing infections in patients undergoing surgical procedures?
A. Wash hands
2. What should surgical staff members do before performing a surgical scrub?
B. Soap and water
3. What is the single most important procedure in preventing infection?
C. Glove breakdown
4. After touching patient surroundings, a staff member should use this.
D. Surgical hand scrub
5. The skin can never be completely
E. Alcohol-based hand rub
6. Because various best practices can reasonably prevent it, a surgical site infection that follows certain cardiac surgeries, bariatric surgeries, and orthopedic procedures is considered
F. 2mm
7. A surgical scrub reduces the risk of infection by reducing the number of
G. Sterile
8. If using skin lotion in the hospital, it should be compatible with the antimicrobial agent used for scrubbing, and won't cause
H. Hospital acquired condition
9. If hands are visibly soiled, wash them with
I. Hand hygiene
10. Fingertips should be no longer than
J. Microorganisms