

Improvement of Instruction

Across

2. This VAK learning style prefers to learn through listening.
 3. This MI involves understanding how to communicate with other people.
 7. This lobe of the brain has to do with memory, emotion, hearing and language.
 12. People in this learning type are solution seekers who value practical applications.
 14. The thalamus, hippocampus, and amygdala make up this system in the brain.
 15. This university provides coursework with real-world applications.
 17. People who use this side of their brain prefer group projects and hands on activities.

18. This lobe of the brain is concerned with the reception and processing of sensory information from the body.
 19. This lobe of the brain is concerned with vision.
 20. Students who use this side of the brain prefer to work alone and read independently.
 21. This MI involves numbers and computing skills.

Down

1. People in this learning style seek hidden possibility and disregard authority.
 4. People in this learning style seek facts and data.
 5. People in this learning type learn by listening and sharing ideas and need to know the "why."

6. This MI involves reading, writing and speaking.
 8. This protective covering helps relay information across the axon.
 9. This VAK learning style learns best through moving, doing and touching.
 10. Each neuron has up to 10,000 of these "branches."
 11. This VAK learning style learns through seeing, highlighting, and reading.
 13. This lobe is involved with decision making and problem solving.
 16. This MI involves understanding and expressing oneself through rhythm, composing, and conducting.