

Infection Control

Across

2. Use of protective devices that reduce the spread of airborne droplet transmission of infectious agents
3. Infections acquired after admission into a health facility.
8. A series of components or events that lead to an infection
10. Protective measures that reduce the risk of transmission of serious diseases
11. U.S. Public Health Service division charged with the investigation and control of certain diseases

12. Used to reduce the transmission of diseases
13. Chemicals used to clean human skin by inhibiting the growth of microorganisms .

Down

1. Category of diseases resulting from the transmission of infectious microorganisms to individuals by direct or indirect contact or as an airborne infection.
4. Safe working conditions in the health care environment are federally regulated by

5. U.S. Public Health Service division charged with the investigation and control of certain diseases

6. A disease caused by microorganisms

7. Through mucous membranes of the mouth, eye, and nose

9. Term applied to infectious microorganism in blood and other body fluids