

Lab Equipment & Reconstitution Crossword Puzzle

Across

2. Hypodermic needle primarily used for the application of medication through injection.
4. Standardized system of fittings used for making leak-free connections.
7. A sealed glass capsule containing liquid.
9. Devices for filling and transferring medications from vials and other containers to their final medication delivery reservoirs.
13. A needle with a glass filtering device at the base.

14. A container used to safely dispose of biomedical waste composed of devices that puncture or lacerate the skin.

16. A substance used to dilute something

Down

1. A syringe with a small needle marked with units instead of mLs.
3. A powdered medication or liquid concentrate to be dissolved or diluted.
5. A substance used for medical treatment.

6. A small container typically cylindrical and made of glass used especially for holding liquid medications.

8. A liquid that is added to the powder or liquid concentrate.

10. Gauze pad that has been saturated with alcohol.

11. A tube with a nozzle and piston or bulb for sucking in and ejecting liquid for injecting or withdrawing fluids.

12. Medication administration record.

15. The liquid that results when the solvent (diluent) dissolves the salute.