

Lesson 1

Across

- 1. extravagantly chivalrous or romantic
- 3. an absence of emotion or enthusiasm
- 5. fond of the company of others; sociable
- 9. having mixed feelings about someone or something;
- 10. the substitution of a mild, indirect, or vague expression
- 13. to feel or express sorrow or regret fo
- 14. strong disagreement; a contention or quarrel; discord
- 15. not transparent or translucent; impenetrable to light; not allowing light to pass through.

- 16. thin, tenuous, or rarefied, as a fluid or an odor
- 18. niggardly; mean
- 20. without distinctive, interesting, or stimulating qualities
- 21. lack of similarity or equality
- 23. unselfishly concerned for or devoted to the welfare of others
- 24. not harmful or injurious; harmless
- 25. showing or expressive of gentleness or kindness: a benign smile.

Down

- 2. making or having a harsh sound
- 4. to regard or treat with reverence; revere.
- 6. existing or being everywhere, especially at the same time
- 7. to reject as having no authority or binding force

- 8. disposed to be silent or not to speak freely; reserved
- 11. a wistful desire to return in thought or in fact to a former time in one's life,
- 12. something or someone that is not in its correct historical or chronological time
- 17. wastefully or recklessly extravagant
- 19. being more than is sufficient or required; excessive
- 22. taken, done, used, etc., surreptitiously or by stealth; secret: a furtive glance.