

Literary Elements

Across

4. The outward struggle between a character & another character, nature, or society, is _____

9. An expression that is clear only to those who are familiar with the language of its origin and can't be understood based on its literal meaning. That's an _____

11. The process by which the personality of the character is revealed through the character's speech, actions, and appearance using inference. That's the _____

12. When the audience knows something that the characters do not. That is _____

14. When something is spoken is not what you really mean; sarcasm. Is _____

15. A literary or dramatic character who undergoes an important inner change, as a change in personality or attitude. That's a _____

17. The main character in a story plot, is the _____

18. When an object or animal is given human characteristics, feelings, and/or thoughts. That's _____

19. An event that happens that is completely opposite of what was expected to happen. Is _____

20. A literary or dramatic character who does not change throughout the course of the literature. Which is a _____

Down

1. The repetition of constant sound, is _____

2. The author reveals the personality of the character through actual words in literature, is the _____

3. A reference to something from a known field or area that readers would recognize and connect with while they are reading. That's _____

5. The underlying meaning of a story that the writer wants the reader to learn, is the _____

6. The inward conflict between a character & himself/herself, is _____

7. A figure of speech where two unlike things are compared using the word "like" or "as" followed by a figurative example, is a _____

8. A person, place, thing, or idea that has meaning in itself, but stands for something else. That's _____

10. The opposing character or force in a story that is against the main character, is the _____

13. A figure of speech that is used to make a comparison between two things that aren't alike but do have something in common. That's a _____

16. A comparison in which an idea or a thing is compared to another idea or thing that is quite different. Is _____