

Modern Georgia

Across

3. an independent political candidate, voter, etc.

6. propose or formally enter as a candidate for election or for an honor or award.

9. a political party whose electoral strength is so small as to prevent its gaining control of a government except in rare and exceptional circumstances.

11. an administrative division of a city or borough that typically elects and is represented by a councilor or councilors.

12. involving several political parties.

13. a member of the Democratic Party.

14. an organised group of people with at least roughly similar political aims and opinions.

15. most important, powerful, or influential.

Down

1. restriction of interest to a narrow sphere; undue concern with local interests or petty distinctions at the expense of general well-being.

2. the legislative body of a country or state.

4. a party system where two major political parties dominate the government.

5. a person who applies for a job or is nominated for election.

7. a person or group besides the two primarily involved in a situation, especially a dispute.

8. a biological community of interacting organisms and their physical environment.

10. involving the agreement or cooperation of two political parties that usually oppose each other's policies.