

NC Community Studies Weekly #2

Across

- 3. imaginary lines that run east to west
- 5. a very accurate way to represent the Earth
- 7. An imaginary line on the other side of the Earth from the Prime Meridian, and it's not a straight line. It marks the place where the beginning of the day and the end of another day meet.
- 8. these maps show physical features like oceans and mountains
- 10. the imaginary line that runs east to west and has a measure of 0

- 11. the middle line that runs north to south and measures 0

Down

- 1. The world can be divided into four _____.
- 2. a way of showing the round Earth on a flat paper
- 4. imaginary lines that run north to south
- 6. lines on this map are equally spaced like a checkerboard
- 9. when you describe the location of a place by naming a nearby place