

Nervous Medical Terminology (Asia)

Across

2. Someone who cannot move any part of the body, especially the extremities such as arms and legs.
5. Pertaining to the head and brain.
6. When you have an ultrasound, the waves go beyond what we can see and go deeper into you so that you can see something inside of you that you can't normally see with a naked eye.
7. Inflammation of the meninges that can be caused by either a bacterial or viral infection.

10. of both sides of the lower half of the body.

11. And X-ray examination of your lymphatic system.
12. An abnormal displacement of an eye or other body part.
13. Pertaining to the head and brain.
14. Someone who specializes in/studies the mind.
15. is a condition in which there is an accumulation of cerebrospinal fluid (CSF) within the brain.

Down

1. This is a fine, delicate membrane that can be shaped like that of a spider's web.
3. And enlarged brain.
4. is a group of three conditions in which tumors grow in the nervous system.
8. A medication to reduce or eliminate pain.
9. regional anesthesia resulting from injection of an anesthetic into the caudal end of the spinal canal now largely replaced by epidural anesthesia