

Name: _____

Date: _____

Neuman's Systems Model

Across

- 1. type of prevention that focuses on preventing damage by removing the stressor
- 7. system of mental processes and emotions
- 9. type of prevention that offers support to the patient to facilitate return to wellness
- 10. the internal and external forces which surround a person
- 11. type of prevention that includes health promotion and maintaining wellness

12. the patient who is dynamic and constantly changing

Down

- 2. a unique profession concerned with the variables that influence the response the patient might have to a stressor
- 3. system that includes physiochemical structure and function of the body

- 4. the condition in which all parts and subparts, or variables, are in harmony
- 5. system which refers to relationships and social/cultural expectations and activities
- 6. those processes related to development over the lifespan
- 8. the system that refers to the influence of spiritual beliefs