

Name: _____

Date: _____

PE Terminology

Across

4. The difference between an area of high partial pressure and low partial pressure is called the
5. Information is passed down this nerve to stimulate SCM, Scalenes and Pectoralis Minor
6. This is a control centre in the medulla oblongata what is its abbreviated name
9. These are also known as 'stretch receptors'
10. The answer to question one occurs by

Down

1. These detect an increase in body temperature what are they
2. What is the process called where gases cross over a membrane
3. When held in a mixture, gases exert pressure what is this called
6. This is a control centre within answer to Q5 and it is responsible for inspiration, what is its abbreviated name
7. This is a control centre within the answer to Q5 and is responsible for expiration, what is its abbreviated name