

Preventing Transmission of Infectious Agents

Across

6. Use of this kind of vial is preferred
7. Precautions intended to be applied to the care of all patients
8. Type of precaution you would use for a patient with MRSA
9. Type of precaution you would use for a patient with TB
10. Don this PPE last

Down

1. Precautions intended for patients who are known or suspected to be infected or colonized with infectious agents
2. Spatial separation of persons with respiratory infections in common waiting areas when possible should be
3. Infection control practices for special lumbar puncture procedures
4. Don this PPE first
5. The single most effective way to prevent the spread of infection