

Processing Information into Your Memory

Across

6. Making memory codes for information so you can have a better long term memory
7. Storage center that briefly holds information for further processing
8. Verifying how accurately and thoroughly you have or have not learned the information
9. All sensory stimuli from the physical world from the 5 senses
10. Action that shows that learning has taken place

Down

1. Understanding how you learn
2. Identifying & separating main ideas and important details from a larger body of info
3. Storage center that briefly holds information for further processing
4. Using repetition to learn information in the exact form it was presented
5. Visually encoding to make pictures or movies in your head