

Programming Review

Across

4. Any issue that arises unexpectedly that cause a computer to not function properly.
7. A positive or negative whole number.
9. Abbreviation for character.
11. Process of creating an executable program from code.
13. An object that is capable of manipulating a value or operator.
14. Group of related data values that are grouped together.

15. A computer error that occurs when a piece of software attempts to access a portion of memory incorrectly.

Down

1. One of the first programming languages.
2. The location from which information is gathered.
3. Reading and scanning through data.
5. Term that describes combining a string, text, or other data in a series without any gaps.

6. An individual who is responsible for creating or working on the development of a product or service.

8. A value that is either true or false.
10. process of a programmer developing a software program by programming.
12. Process of examining and removing errors from a program's source code.