

Prologue The Wind, the Road, and the Way

Across

1. to say that something is true in a confident way
 3. a shackle for the hand or wrist
 7. whipped or flogged, severely punished
 8. the line at which the earth's surface and the sky appear to meet
 10. covered in loose rounded fragments of rock
 12. deceitful, unprincipled, mischievous, unpredictable

13. a chain or shackle for the feet

15. to leave a ship or airplane
 16. lacking people, plants, animals; barren

Down

2. land having very few plants
 4. one who hurts someone who trusts you (such as a friend or relative) by not giving help or by doing something morally wrong
 5. color of the sea

6. Jewish place of worship

9. to refuse to obey (something or someone)

11. a period of forced absence from one's country or home

14. to stare at in an angry way