

Name: _____

Date: _____

Psychology

Across

- 5. A laboratory device for testing depth perception in infants and young animals
- 7. A hollow tube in the inner ear that is usually called a small shell and contains the sensory organ of hearing
- 8. The perceptual tendency to organize stimuli into understandable units
- 10. The process of organizing and interpreting incoming sensory information
- 11. Outer visible portion of the ear

- 12. A hole located in the center of the iris Inner coat of the eye which is the light-sensitive layer of tissue
- 13. The "whole" or the organizational patterns that we tend to perceive
- 14. Depth cues that require the use of only one eye

Down

- 1. Perceiving the size, shape and lightness of an object as unchanging even as the image of the object on the retina of the eye changes

- 2. Depth cues that require the use of both eyes
- 3. A hole located in the center of the iris
- 4. The organization of the visual field into objects that stand out from their surroundings
- 6. The ability to see in three dimensions and to judge distance
- 9. A mental predisposition to perceive something on way and not the other