

QCERT-CW2

Across

2. A hidden, self-replicating section of computer software that inserts itself and becomes part of another program
5. A software appearing to perform a useful function but actually tricks a user into executing malicious logic (e.g. Trojan horse)
8. A data classification mode that describes certain data or document as a secret
11. An instance of a cyber attack
13. While you were browsing the internet a popup with counter appeared and says since you are visitor number 100,00 of a specific website, you are going to win a prize and all you need is to click a link and fill your information. What type of attack is this?
14. The act of informing the IT personnel or help desk with all noticed incidents
15. Phrase used as a password

16. A software that is a type of utility used for scanning and removing harmful software from your computer
17. A government agency in Qatar that handles all reported incidents related to cyber attacks
19. The process of confirming the correctness of the claimed identity
20. A method, which is often secret, of bypassing normal authentication in a product

Down

1. Unauthorized use of one's computing device (Tablet, PC, Laptop, and Smartphone) to mine Cryptocurrencies such as Bitcoins
3. The art of manipulating people to get access to sensitive information.
4. The body of technologies, processes and practices designed to protect networks, computers, programs and data from attack, damage or unauthorized access

6. The activity of defrauding an online account holder of financial information by posing as a legitimate company.
7. Maintaining the consistency, accuracy, and trustworthiness of data over its entire life cycle
9. Refers to the process of making copies of data or data files to use in the event the original data or data files are lost or destroyed.
10. Any software program in which advertising banners are displayed while the program is running.
12. An attack that aims to make a service such as a website unusable by "flooding" it with malicious traffic or data from multiple sources
18. A type of authentication that relies on the biological characteristics of the user