

Representation and Participation

Across

3. MPs who are loyal to their party
4. See themselves as agents of those who have elected them
6. These representatives vote based on their own ideology and judgement
7. A strategy of directly meeting or communicating with law-makers, especially MPs and Ministers
9. The demographic of parliamentarians should be representative of the groups in the community

10. Indirect democracy where power is delegated to others

Down

1. The strategy of taking action, often public such as marches or sit-ins and online campaigns
2. House of Representatives has this type of electorates
5. Senate has this type of electorate
8. Type of democracy that does not delegate power to others