

Research Methods

Across

1. Often uses diaries, observations and interviews to get information on small groups
3. An effect where the participants act differently upon knowing they're being observed
5. Descriptive data
9. The variable being manipulated in an experiment
14. Quantitative is often high in...
15. Qualitative data is often high in...

17. An experiment taking place in an everyday setting
18. The experiments aim
19. Type of data which the researcher does not generate

Down

2. When the participants are unaware that they are being observed
4. Numerical data
6. An interview with a set list of questions
7. Studying social processes between nation states, or across different types of society.

8. A type of study that is opposite to 'snap-shot' research
10. Type of data which the researcher generates
11. When the participants are aware of the observer and the research aim
12. An experiment conducted in a controlled environment
13. Interviews, Questionnaires and Surveys
16. Type of question that generates 'yes/no' or rating data