

Research

Across

- 2. a person who carries out academic or scientific research.
5. an essay or thesis, especially one read at an academic lecture or seminar or published in an academic journal.
12. the action or process of collecting someone or something.
13. a quotation from or reference to a book, paper, or author, especially in a scholarly work.
14. the extent of the area or subject matter that something deals with or to which it is relevant.
15. the action of investigating something or someone; formal or systematic examination or research.

- 18. a change or difference in condition, amount, or level, typically with certain limits.
19. relating to, measuring, or measured by the quantity of something rather than its quality.
20. a formal or official examination of the particulars of something, made in order to ascertain condition, character.

Down

- 1. the structure that can hold or support a theory of a research study.
3. a person who takes part in something.
4. study are those characteristics of design or methodology that impacted or influenced the interpretation of the findings from your research.
6. relating to, measuring, or measured by the quality of something rather than its quantity.

- 7. a meeting of people face to face, especially for consultation.
8. a set of printed or written questions with a choice of answers, devised for the purposes of a survey or statistical study.
9. the case presented by or on behalf of the party being accused or sued in a lawsuit.
10. use of a source of information in order to ascertain something.
11. facts and statistics collected together for reference or analysis.
16. a collection of quantitative data.
17. a detailed investigation and analysis of a subject or situation.

Word Bank

collection
 researchers
 variation quantitative
 paper

participants
 statistics
 qualitative theoretical framework
 defense

questionnaire
 scope
 citation
 investigation limitation

data
 study survey
 reference
 interview