

Romeo and Juliet Act III V#2

Across

3. courage and boldness; bravery
 4. to dress in finery; adorn, to place in an orderly arrangement
 6. a shaded, leafy recess; nook for peaceful moments
 7. excessively or stridently decorated; gaudy
 8. tiresomely long or dull; boring

10. to associate with
 12. to make or become confused
 14. nonexistence; nothingness, zero
 15. an unprincipled person; scoundrel, one who is playfully mischievous

Down

1. dead and decaying flesh
 2. to renounce seriously or under oath; to commit perjury (to lie)

5. to belong to as a part, to pertain
 9. to refrain or resist; to be tolerant and patient
 11. one who lends money at interest, especially charging interest at an unlawful rate
 13. to cover or smear with a soft sticky substance; to paint crudely